About Hudson's Grill

The name "Hudson" came from J.L. Hudson, a Detroit department store entrepreneur and founder of Hudson's Department Store. Mr Hudson along with seven other business men banded together to create the Hudson Motor Company in 1909.

Fast forward a few decades to 1984 when a man by the name of Travis Bryant decided to build a restaurant that utilized the same basic business philosophies that the Hudson Motor Car Company did. So over 20 years ago the Hudson's Grill concept opened in Ventura, California.

Over the years Hudson's Grill International, Inc has enjoyed continued growth through several franchises. Hudson's Grill Franchises can be found in California, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.
